

Gary McGill

*Associate Dean & Director, Fisher School of Accounting
Warrington College of Business, University of Florida*

Gary McGill is the Director of the Fisher School of Accounting, an Associate Dean in the Warrington College of Business Administration, and holds the J. Roy Duggan Endowed Professorship in Accounting. Professor McGill is a CPA and spent several years in practice before earning his PhD and joining the faculty at the University of Florida in 1986. He teaches various graduate and undergraduate tax and accounting courses, including a graduate course in international taxation. Professor McGill has published over 50 journal articles, book chapters, or research reports. He provided testimony to the Senate Finance Committee hearings on Enron in 2003, is the co-author of several books, and is the recipient of competitive research grants from Deloitte & Touche, Ernst & Young, Price Waterhouse, the AICPA, the Andrus Foundation, Fannie Mae's Housing Policy Research Division, the National Association of Realtors, and the National Homebuilder's Association. Professor McGill has served on the editorial boards of The Journal of the American Taxation Association and Advances in Taxation and is an Associate Editor of the Journal of Accounting Literature. Professor McGill has served on the boards of several professional organizations and is past President of the Federation of Schools of Accountancy. He has received numerous teaching awards at UF and he is a frequent lecturer on international tax, federal tax, and accounting for income taxes for academic, government, and professional organizations.